The Artful Pie Project

A Sweet and Savoury Book of Recipes

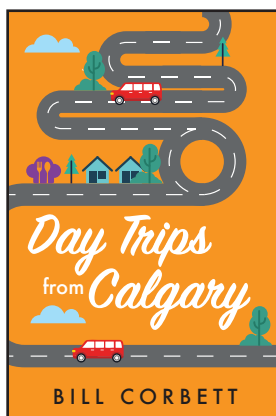

DENISE MARCHESSAULT & DEB GARLICK

Pie champion Denise Marchessault teams up with artist and photographer Deb Garlick for a visually stunning cookbook celebrating sweet and savoury pies. With whimsical illustrations and practical how-to images, The Artful Pie Project unlocks the secrets to a great pie. (Psst... it's all in the pastry!) Featuring over 50 recipes covering the pie spectrum from galettes, to pastry dumplings and slab crumbles — plus French Canadian classics such as Tourtière and Tart au Sucre. Beyond pie, there are plenty of tips for dodging pie fails and creative ideas for using precious scraps of leftover dough.

Denise Marchessault lives in Vancouver, holds a Grand Diplôme, from Le Cordon Bleu, and is the author of British Columbia From Scratch.

Deb Garlick is a Victoria painter and photographer whose art graces international book covers and is in private collections worldwide.

The Cold Edge of Heaven

WHIT FRASER

Abandoned at a desolate Arctic outpost and haunted by memories of forbidden desire, Constable Will Grant preserves his sanity by investigating the mysterious deaths of two troubled Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers. Set in 1924 at a desolate police outpost on Devon Island in Canada's far north, this is a story of murder, mystery, and love — intensified by a clash of cultures between Inuit guides and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers who live and work alongside them.

Whit Fraser was inspired to write Cold Edge of Heaven after visiting an abandoned Royal Canadian Mounted Police detachment at Dundas Harbour on Devon Island, which includes three hilltop graves. Fraser is a journalist, author, and viceregal consort of Canadian Governor General Mary Simon. He is winner of the 2019 NorthWords Book Prize for True North Rising.

Distraught by the murder of a popular teacher in a largely aboriginal community in the Canadian North, Constable Nell Munro battles deception and prejudice in this gripping "whodunnit."

The Crooked Knife

JAN MORRISON

Constable Nell Munro is angry and in danger of losing her job. A teacher, Jay Tuck, has been found dead, a crooked knife nearby. A two-spirit Innu youth named Pashin is the main suspect, but Nell doesn't buy it. Local activists implore her to keep digging but when she does, Nell is threatened and worse – so are the kids she cares about. Even when the lead investigator puts Nell on probation for her big mouth, she keeps going. Who is responsible for the recent chaos on the reserve, and why do people who fight it end up either very quiet or very dead?

Jan Morrison was raised in the back of an avocado green station wagon. An air-force brat, her family was either relocating or taking to the back roads on summer holidays.

While working with Innu youth in Sheshatshiu, Labrador, Jan, a playwright, poet and psychotherapist, was inspired to write The Crooked Knife, her debut novel. Jan lives in Prospect, Nova Scotia.

Gardening for Acidic Soils

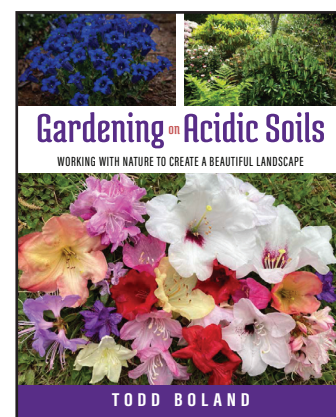

Working with nature to create a beautiful landscape

TODD BOLAND & JAMIE ELLISON

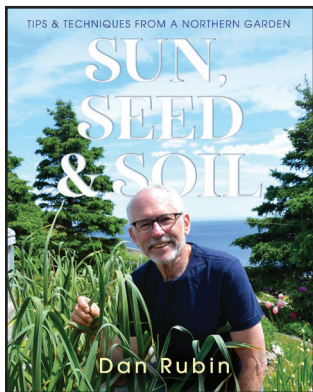

Acidic soils are widespread throughout North America, especially in the eastern seaboard and the Pacific Northwest. But little assistance is available on how to garden specifically on acidic soil. In fact, most advice concerns how to make acidic soil less so. Todd Boland and Jamie Ellison take a different approach; they believe in working with nature, rather than trying to change it. A wide variety of ornamental plants, both native and exotic, thrive in acidic soil conditions or require them to survive. This book helps you develop gardens that takes advantage of acidic soil conditions, a feature that has too often been considered a detriment.

Todd Boland is the research horticulturalist at Memorial University of Newfoundland's Botanical Gardens and the author of numerous books on gardening and plant identification.

Jamie Ellison is an instructor at the Nova Scotia Community College in Kentville, Nova Scotia. His specialties include plant identification, garden design, and horticultural presentations on unique plants and gardens.

Sun, Seed & Soil

Tips and Techniques for a Northern Gardener

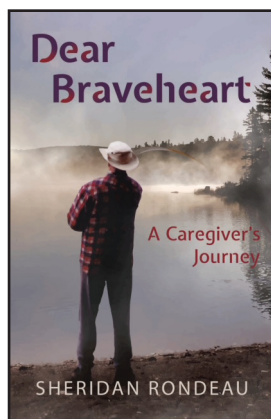

TODD BOLAND

Moving to Newfoundland from the Gulf Islands of British Columbia was a shock for long-time gardener Dan Rubin. Accustomed to warm, calm, and relatively predictable weather, Rubin faced long winters, strong winds, and constant salt spray at his new property perched on the edge of the north Atlantic.

Twenty years later, Rubin's productive and lush seaside garden is filled with a range of crops, from tomatoes, squash, and greens to plums, artichokes, and even peaches.

Sun, Seed and Soil is a collection of practical tips and techniques for gardening in northern, colder climates. This book offers valuable advice for Canadian gardeners—particularly in Atlantic Canada—as well as those in the northern US.

Todd Boland has been gardening for over 40 years. Todd is currently the research horticulturalist at Memorial University of Newfoundland's Botanical Gardens. He is the author of many gardening books, including Favourite Perennials for Atlantic Canada.

Personal Memoirs

Dear Braveheart

A Caregiver's Journey

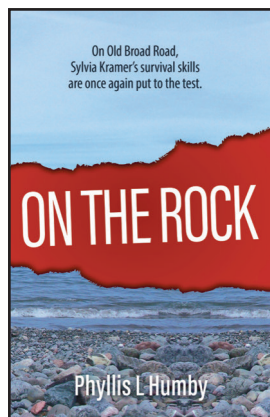

SHERIDAN RONDEAU

Imagine being lost, then found, then lost again. Imagine being giddy in love with someone who is slipping away from you bit by bit. This is the heartbreak that Sheridan Rondeau endured as a caregiver and the route she chose to get herself and her husband safely to the end.

More than half a million Canadians have Alzheimer's disease or related dementia. Those suffering from it lose their memory and ability to think properly. What was more frightening, for Rondeau, was the profound changes to her husband Tony's mood and behaviour. As Alzheimer's disease heaped indignity after indignity upon him, she struggled to maintain her equilibrium and optimism.

Caregivers will find insight and hope in this personal memoir.

This is Sheridan Rondeau's first book. It is a personal memoir of her and her family's struggle with mental illness and is lovingly told.

On the Rock

PHYLLIS L HUMBY

It's been five years since Sylvia Kramer abandoned the turmoil of her former life in Toronto and found refuge in Newfoundland. During her attempt to make a fresh start, Sylvia experienced a brutal home assault, suffered the loss of her newfound soul mate, and developed a disquieting suspicion about a friend's newborn baby. Now, having finally settled into a peaceful and accepting existence on Old Broad Road, her calm is shattered when she's informed of an ominous scheme instigated by her desperate ex-husband. Sylvia's life is further disrupted when her neighbour Jamie invites a disgraced lawyer from Boston to stay with him On The Rock.

Phyllis L Humby is a seasoned writer who lives in Lambton Shores near London, Ontario. Her nearly twenty years in the retail lingerie forum provided plenty of fodder for her memoir Hazards of the Trade.

Our Farming Life in Southeastern Ontario

GRACE VANDERZANDE

Grace's childhood dream was to be a writer. Her partner, had another dream, to own and run his own farm, something that was to become Grace's reality. Farming is both incredibly frustrating and rewarding, and after many highs and lows Grace found a way to support her partner and family and to follow her dreams at the same time.

She started writing short stories on a blog named Buttons Thoughts, which became very popular, as Grace's quirky sense of humor helped herself and others cope with very real situations. This book is a compilation of some of those stories.

Grace Vanderzande lives on a farm outside Napanee, ON. As a creative outlet, she started a blog named Buttons Thoughts in 2010 which soon became very popular and is now published as, "Tales from the Farm" in Kingston This Week and The Whig.

Wabanang

Who was she?

JUDI MONTGOMERY

In the winter of 1876, a baby is born to Anishinaabe parents along the trapline in northern Ontario. Seventy five years later, her granddaughter Janey is seeking information about why her family is so fractured, and what part the residential school played in the dysfunction which has shaped her own life. Janey enlists the help of a hypnotist who regresses her back in time, to allow her to follow her grandmother, Wabanang (Morning Star) as a child, as a residential school student and as a medicine woman for her people. But the seeds of distrust and fear sown in the past are destroying her family and Janey must find her own way through the smoke of confusion to discover who she is.

For many years, Judi Montgomery sat at the feet of Algonquin Nokomis Fay Hollywood, which led her to work with the Kataroqui Indigenous Health Council, the Grandmothers Council, as well as the Limestone and Algonquin Lakeshore School Boards. Judi lives in southeastern Ontario.

Elk Whistle Warrior Society

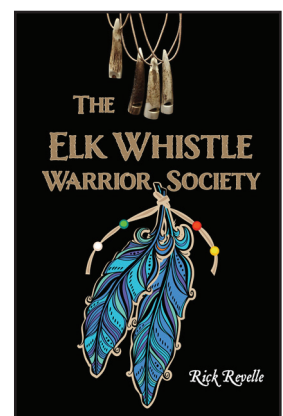

RICK REVELLE

It was 650 years ago, on the shores of Sewitakan Zaaga'igan (now known as Big Quill Lake in Saskatchewan) two young women, decided to start a warrior group led by females who would look after and defend the women and children of their bands with the aid of selected male warriors.

That night on the shores of the Salt Lake they tattooed their bodies. The boys with two crossed feathers on their left calves, the girls with the same feathers on their right shoulders. The feathers signified the strength of the sexes held together and led by women.

They named their group in the Ani-shi-na-abe language Omashkooz Gwiishkoshim Og-ichidaa and in Cree they were called Wāwāskēsiw Kwēskosiwin Nōtinkēwiḣiniw. In the white man's tongue they are known as the Elk Whistle Warrior Society. This is their story.

Rick Revelle belongs to the Ardoch Algonquin First Nation and now lives in Napanee, Ontario. The Elk Whistle Warrior Society is his fifth book and the start of a new series.

Redjack

GARY COLLINS

Redjack, the much hated fish culler, awakens in the bottom of a heaving punt adrift on the Atlantic Ocean. Following the beating he took from his only son, Jake, he slinks into the inner bays. Jake is home from the failed battle for Suvla Bay in the Great War. With his family, he sails to Trinity Bay to fulfill a promise. There, unbeknownst to them, they become afflicted with the Spanish flu by the mother of the soldier. On the way home, a fierce storm drives Jake deep into the bays for shelter, where he must come face to face with Redjack again. The virus they bring to their isolated island home changes their lives forever. From the award-winning author of The Last Beothuk and What Colour is the Ocean?

Gary Collins is Newfoundland and Labrador's favourite storyteller, and today he is known all over the province as "the Story Man." He lives in Hare Bay, Newfoundland.

If I Cry I'll Fill the Ocean

The Catherine Linehan Story

IDA LINEHAN YOUNG

In a life layered by tragedy and loss, Catherine Linehan's ingrained response is to put one foot in front of the other and not succumb to grief. For the mother of ten children, five of whom perished in a house fire in North Harbour Newfoundland, this means "making some kind of best" out of the rest of her life.

If I Cry I'll Fill the Ocean is the story of how tears of cleansing and forgiveness were sacrificed to keep memories alive and sanity in reach. This kind of courage only exists in the hearts and souls of those who have endured the unendurable.

First and foremost, Ida Linehan Young is a mother to three adult children, Sharon, Stacey and Shawna, and a grandmother to the most extraordinary little boy, Parker. She published her memoir, No Turning Back: Surviving the Linehan Family Tragedy, in 2014.

Rig Wives

KELLY EARLE

"We live our lives one hitch at a time. Along with that comes tears from the anxiety and stress when trying to hold it all together. But then there is the laughter and comfort when surrounded by the right people, the ones we have grown close to, who have become our family and friends, our rocks some days: our fellow rig wives. The offshore is not for the faint of heart. The ocean can be a dark and lonely place. Our husbands risk their lives every time they go to work. While some people's relationships dissolve living this life, others stand tall. Only the strong survive."

Kelly Earle was born and raised in St. John's, Newfoundland. She went from being a young entrepreneur to working in the financial industry to becoming a stay-at-home mom. Her husband, Jamie, works in the oil industry which inspired Kelly to write her first book, Rig Wives. Kelly, her husband, and their three children reside in Torbay, Newfoundland

The Last Days of Smallwood

EDWARD ROBERTS

Joseph Roberts Smallwood, the first premier of Newfoundland and Labrador, and the "only living father of Confederation," announced his intention to retire from politics in 1968. He was eventually defeated in the 1971 election by Progressive Conservative leader Frank Moores. Smallwood's last days in politics were marked by controversy. For the first time, insiders such as Edward Roberts, Clyde Wells, and others give first-hand accounts of the tumultuous — and scandalous — final years in power of Premier Joey Smallwood.

Edward Roberts has been involved in public life in Newfoundland and Labrador for fifty-five years, as a journalist, lawyer, and politician. He was a member of the House of Assembly for twenty-three years and served as Newfoundland and Labrador's lieutenant governor between 2002 and 2008. His first book, as editor, Peter Cashin: My Fight for Newfoundland (2012), was a Globe and Mail bestseller.

The Good Thief

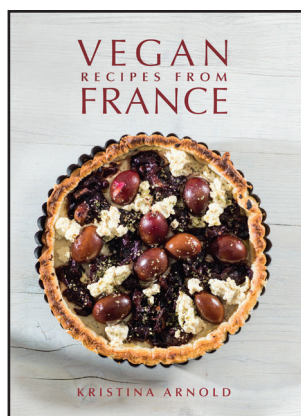

LEO JOSEPH FUREY

Set in and around St. John's, Newfoundland, in the late 1960s, The Good Thief is the story of seventeen-year-old Sonny McCluskey, who was raised by his eccentric father, a man on a mission. Sonny's father dies, leaving him the family business, a small auto repair shop, and a long-standing family secret, forcing him to navigate the emotional terrain of youth and the pressures of family. The Good Thief is a novel about tradition, love, laughter, and intrigue. It is about an ordinary young man who finds himself in an extraordinary situation.

Leo Furey is a writer from St. John's, Newfoundland. His first novel, The Long Run, was a 2004 Globe and Mail Best Book and was chosen by Barnes and Noble for their prestigious 2007 Discover Great New Writers Seasonal Picks.

Edible Wild Plants and Herbs

A compendium of recipes and remedies

PAMELA MICHAEL

Exquisitely illustrated with full-colour paintings of all the plants and herbs in the book, ranging from dandelion and sorrel to sea beet and samphire, Edible Wild Plants and Herbs is both a cookbook and field guide to the identification and use of foodstuffs from the wild

Pamela Michael was born and brought up in London, but during the Second World War she worked on a Cornish farm, which inspired her with a lasting love of the country. At the end of the war she married Maurice Michael, the translator and literary agent and after another spell in London, they escaped to Sussex and finally to Cornwall. Painstaking research, tasting and testing went into the development of the recipes for both recipes and potions, many of which came from the old herbals and early cookbooks, which Pamela adapted for the modern cook.

LORI WEBER

In Nazi Germany, friendship between an Aryan German girl and a Jewish German girl is forbidden, and an act of kindness might mean death.

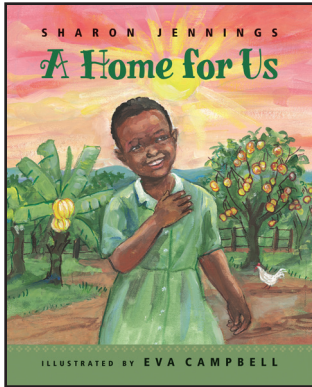

Sabine and Edie have been best friends since Kindergarten. Then Kristallnacht hits in 1938, shattering Jewish shop windows, synagogues, and their friendship. While Edie escapes to Canada, Sabine remains in her Nazi-controlled town, eventually rescuing and supporting Edie's beloved Papa.

Throughout the seven years of WWII, Sabine confronts how far courage can take her, while Edie finds the strength to deal with leaving her father behind, integrating into a new country, and coming to terms with her sexual orientation. Despite their separation, they keep hope alive that their bond of friendship remains.

Lori Weber was born and raised in Montreal. A member of CANSCAIP, she is currently an English teacher at John Abbott College in Montreal and is the author of Klepto, Split, Tattoo Heaven, Strange Beauty, and If You Live Like Me.

This is the fictionalized story of “Yula,” a character inspired by a real girl Sharon Jennings met in her visits to the Hope Development Centre in Kenya. When four-year-old Yula is discovered by the orphanage director, “Mum,” and introduced to a caring home and school, her abilities develop as do her understandings of how to care for others. When a new child enters the orphanage, Yula is angry and jealous, but soon she warmly welcomes Mutuku just as she had been welcomed when she arrived.

Sharon Jennings (president of CANSCAIP) has written over sixty books for young people. She’s based in Toronto.

Eva Campbell was born in Ghana and spent her childhood in Barbados and Jamaica. She studied painting at the College of Art in Ghana, and the University of Victoria, and has exhibited her art around the world.

Sweater

EMILY HEPDITCH

Alexander loves his grandma and all of the wonderful things she makes for him. But when Grandma surprises Alexander with a present that's not so wonderful, he has to figure out how to make it to the end of picture day wearing his itchy, sweaty, scratchy, woolly sweater. Written and illustrated by Emily Hepditch, the award-winning and #1 bestselling author of The Woman in the Attic and Alone on the Trail.

Emily Hepditch is an award-winning author from Mount Pearl, Newfoundland. Her debut thriller, The Woman in the Attic, quickly rose to the #1 spot for local interest books in Newfoundland. When she is not writing novels, she is studying law, working on an illustration, or hiking the East Coast Trails.

A Perfect Spot

ISABELLE SIMLER & VINEET LAL

A ladybug needs a safe place to lay her eggs, but where can she find an open spot? Katydid's flutter in the leaves, stick insects hide in the branches, and thorn bugs pop out from every available stem. Even those bright pink flowers are orchid mantises ready to strike! Will any of these creatures be the right neighbors for the ladybug's eggs? Illustrated with lush, vibrant details, A Perfect Spot is a fascinating introduction to the diverse world of arthropods. Acclaimed creator Isabelle Simler presents a bug's eye view of camouflage, metamorphosis, and other natural wonders.

Isabelle Simler has written and illustrated over twenty books for children. She lives in France.

Vineet Lal is a literary translator of French to English works. He studied French at Princeton University and the University of Edinburgh. Vineet lives in Scotland.

Emigration & Immigration

I Hate Borsch!

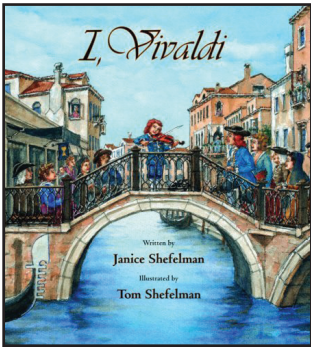

YEVGENIA NAYBERG

All Ukrainians are supposed to love borsch — but what if you hate the red stuff?

A young girl despises Eastern Europe's most beloved soup, and not even the grandmothers of Kiev can persuade her to change her mind. But when she immigrates to the United States, American food leaves her feeling empty. One day she discovers borsch recipes in an old suitcase. Maybe that disgusting beet soup deserves another chance...

Imaginatively illustrated with splashes of borsch-bright red, this book captures the complicated experience of rejecting and embracing one's culture.

Yevgenia Nayberg is an illustrator, painter, and theater designer whose books include Any's Secret Society and Mona Lisa in New York. Her illustrations for Drop by Drop received a Sydney Taylor Silver Medal. Originally from Ukraine, she now lives in New York, where she makes delicious borsch. I, Vivaldi

JANICE SHEFELMAN & TOM SHEFELMAN

In this picture book inspired by the life of Antonio Vivaldi, the composer himself narrates how a creative, determined boy grew up to create masterpieces like "The Four Seasons." Despite his mother's vow for him to become a priest, young Vivaldi is only interested in music. He soon grows from a feisty, violin-obsessed boy into a stubborn young man who puts his musical training ahead of his studies for priesthood. Beautiful, ornate artwork portrays the spirit and splendor of Vivaldi's hometown of Venice. A historical note, musical score, and glossary will help readers more fully appreciate the composer's Baroque context and his enduring genius.

Janice and Tom Shefelman collaborated on several children's books before Tom's death in 2017. Their titles have received many honors, including New York Library Best Book for the Teen Age, CBC Notable Book, and IRA Children's Choice awards. The husband-wife team lived and worked in Texas, where Janice still resides.

New Experience

I'll Always Come Back to You

GRACE ZONG & CARMEN TAFOLLA

What happens when someone you love heads out the door? A mother goes out to deliver letters around the world, and her daughter stays behind. Mom might have to cross mountains, fight bears, or scare away pirates before she comes back. Her daughter might have to wait with Gramma or a friend at home. But whether their time apart has been long or short, boring or exciting, the family will soon be together again.

Perfect for children struggling with separation anxiety, this book reminds them that distance cannot diminish love.

Carmen Tafolla is a writer, poet, speaker, and university professor based in Texas.

Grace Zong is the illustrator of many books for young readers. She has a BFA in illustration from the Rhode Island School of Design. Grace splits her time between New York and South Korea.

I'll Say Goodbye

PAM ZOLLMAN & FRANCES IVES

Beach days with Uncle Mike always bring something unexpected, like a shiny shell that turns out to be a hermit crab. But Uncle Mike has cancer. Not every surprise is a good one anymore. Soon Uncle Mike starts spending more and more time at the hospital, and the grown-ups start saying "we don't know" over and over. One day Mom says Uncle Mike is gone. Gone where? What place could be better than his house on the beach? How could he leave without saying goodbye?

This gentle, evocatively illustrated story addresses illness and loss from a child's perspective.

Pam Zollman is a children's fiction and nonfiction author. She lives in North Carolina.

Frances Ives studied illustration at the Cambridge School of Art. She lives in England.

Death & Dying

it's so difficult

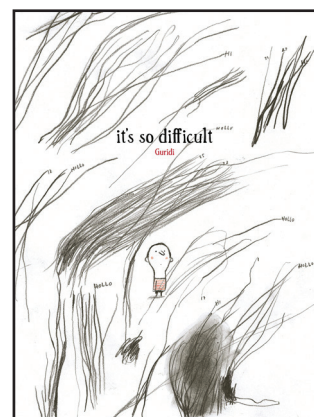

LAWRENCE SCHIMEL & RAÚL NIETO GURIDI

A school day can be so overwhelming: so many people, so many noises, so many things to remember. Grown-ups say it'll get easier with time, but even saying hello is incredibly hard. Thank goodness for comforts like math, for anything that can relax a restless mind. Maybe this time a few words will come out at last...

An empathetic look at anxiety and overstimulation, it's So Difficult follows a child throughout the challenging routines of a single day. Even the smallest step forward can be an enormous triumph.

Raúl Nieto Guridi has created many books for children. He lives in Spain.

Lawrence Schimel is an author, anthologist, publisher, and translator of books in both Spanish and English. Lawrence lives in Madrid, Spain, and New York City.

Special Needs

The Book that Kibo Wrote

MARIANA RUIZ JOHNSON & LAWRENCE SCHIMEL

One night under the acacia trees, Kibo writes a story about home. His neighbor Naki reads his words, binds them into a book, and brings it to the city. There Camilo devours Kibo's story, remembering his childhood in the savannah. The next day he shares the book and his memories with his friend Simon. Soon Simon starts writing new songs about distant lands. Where will Kibo's book go next, and what will it spark for its next reader?

The Book that Kibo Wrote showcases the power of stories to connect readers across the globe.

Mariana Ruiz Johnson is an international award-winning illustrator and has published several books around the world.

The Pack

AMANDA CLEY & CECILIA FERRI

If you try to fit in with the pack, you'll look the same as everyone else. You'll be a part of the group, but you'll lose parts of yourself. Eventually you won't even recognize yourself anymore. Breaking free from the pack isn't easy, but it is possible. If you find the courage to leave conformity behind, you can finally discover who you are.

Resonant and haunting, The Pack imagines what happens when a human being wears wolf's clothing. This poetic, powerful book will start unforgettable conversations about identity, peer pressure, and finding one's own path.

The Gift

ALAIN SERGE DZOTAP & DELPHINE RENON

When Leo opens his birthday presents, he receives an amazing gift: a pen! Inside it, Papa says, are many beautiful things. But how do you get them out? None of his friends can guess. Super-Zombo doesn't get anywhere by blowing on it, and Coco-Tembo thinks it's too tiny to hold anything important. Maybe Leo's mama will know how to reveal all the wonders inside...

This warm, charming story is a perfect introduction to the joy of writing. Like Leo, young readers will discover how a simple utensil can express all the words in the world — even one's own name.

Alain Serge Dzotap is a Cameroonian children's author and poet. Born in Bafoussam, he started to write poetry after devouring book after book from the city library.

Delphine Renon is a French illustrator, ceramicist, and graphic designer.

The Writer

DAVIDE CALI & MONICA BARENGO

A dog has an important job to do, especially if his human is a writer. Without a dog by his side, the writer would forget to eat. He'd never get out of his pajamas, and he'd probably stare at the computer all day long. But even the best French bulldog can't do everything. Maybe this perfect pair needs someone new in their lives...

Illustrated in warm, earthy tones, this witty story reflects the ways dogs change our lives for the better. Our canine friends can make — and find — the best companions.

Davide Cali has written over one hundred children's books, which have been published in over thirty countries. Born in Switzerland, Davide now lives in Italy.

Good Eating

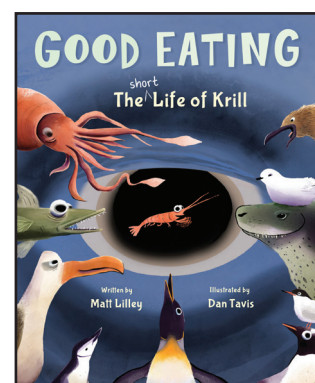

The Short Life of Krill

DAN TAVIS & MATT LILLEY

Of all the life forms in Arctic seas and the ocean around Antarctica, krill are the most important. Krill are the largest animals able to catch and eat phytoplankton, and they in turn are eaten by the largest animals ever to live on earth — blue whales — as well as by seals, penguins, and a host of others. In other words, krill are really good at eating, and krill are really good eatin’.

Matt Lilley (Minneapolis, MN; mattlilley.ink) has a master’s degree in scientific and technical communication with a special emphasis on medical writing for kids.

Dan Tavis (Dunbarton, NH) has a passion to illustrate characters that emotionally connect with the viewer and tell stories through visual narrative.

Not a Cat

A Memoir

WINTER MILLER & DANICA NOVGORODOFF

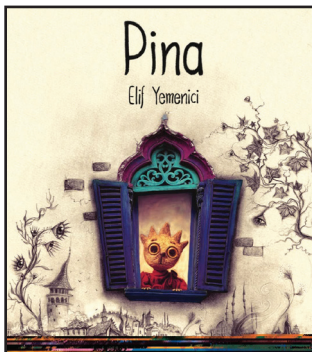

A funny, expansive, affirming story with a powerful message of self-determination for young kids: No one can label us if we do not allow ourselves to be labeled. Our identities are ours to choose and to live.

Between his opening greeting and the closing page on which he stalks away after taking no questions, Gato wants to make one thing perfectly clear: Although he has four legs, two ears, and a long, long tail, the word “cat” does not define him. He takes us on a tour of his adventures, accomplishments, and daily activities that makes mincemeat of our first impressions. What he truly is, he wants us to know, is Gato.

Winter Miller is a New York Foundation of the Arts Playwright and a founding member of the Obie award-winning 13Playwrights.

They're Heroes Too

PAT BRISSON & ANAIT SEMIRDZHYAN

We celebrate cops, firefighters, and soldiers, and rightly so. But let's also celebrate teachers, bus drivers, grocery clerks, mail carriers, and the other folks who keep the world spinning around every day. And let's give a nod to kids, too? kids who are kind and brave and help each other. They're heroes too.

Pat Brisson has written 20 books for young readers. She is a former schoolteacher, school librarian, and public librarian.

Anait Semirdzhyan grew up in a multicultural family and lived in several countries with diverse cultures before settling in the Seattle area with her husband and twin daughters. Her illustrations begin as pencil sketches on cold-press watercolor paper. She then inks the outlines, paints with watercolors, and scans the illustrations in order to edit them in Photoshop. She is the illustrator of The Arabic Quilt and other works that can be viewed at www.anaitart.com.

This or That

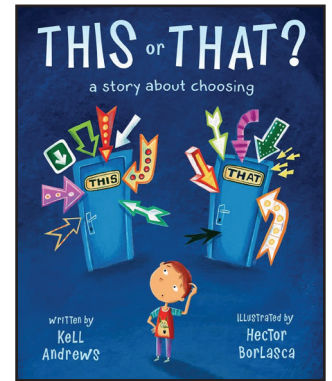

A Story about Choosing

KELL ANDREWS & HECTOR BORLASCA

A funny, instructive story about making decisions: Alexander's dad is an umpire and makes decisions quickly. His mom is a judge and makes decisions deliberately. But Alexander has trouble making any choice at all.

Kell Andrews writes nonfiction for adults and fiction for children. A lifelong Philadelphian, she lives with her husband and two daughters in Wynnewood, Pennsylvania.

Hector Borlasca (Buenos Aires, Argentina) studied law before finding his true passion in the arts. He began his career as a graphic designer but eventually developed a unique illustration style. His work has appeared in advertising campaigns, magazines, newspapers, picture books, and textbooks in Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, and Mexico.

Bottle Tops

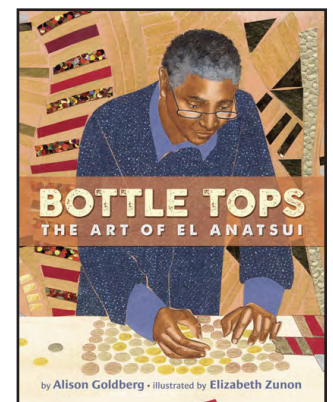

ELIZABETH ZUNON & ALISON GOLDBERG

As an art student curious about his own people's art history, Ghanaian sculptor El Anatsui found stories in the fabrics they wore and how they used recycled goods. He decided to tell these stories through his artwork.

After coming across a discarded bag of bottle tops, El grew inspired with this new material. He disassembled, flattened, and reshaped the bottle tops, then stitched them together with wire. The results were large, flowing tapestries telling stories about history and culture, and linking people together. Today, El's bottle top sculptures are showcased all over the world, fascinating audiences everywhere.

Alison Goldberg is a writer based in Cambridge, Massachusetts, and the author of I Love You for Miles and Miles.

Elizabeth Zunon grew up in the Ivory Coast, West Africa, and memories of her childhood can be seen in her artwork. She currently lives in Albany, New York.

The Sky We Shared

SHIRLEY REVA VERNICK

In southern Japan, Tamiko spends her time writing in her diary, dreaming of making theatrical costumes, and praying her brother Kyo makes it back from the war. She wishes she could be brave like him and help the war effort.

In rural Oregon, Nellie spends her time lying in the grass, studying the stars, and wishes for her pa to return from the war and that the boy next door, Joey, would talk to her like he used to.

Soon the girls' lives become inextricably linked. Tamiko and her classmates are brought to a damp, repurposed theater to make large paper balloons to help the military. No one knows what they are for. Nellie and her classmates ration food, work in salvage drives, and support their community.

Shirley Reva Vernick is an award-winning author and journalist. She lives in Amherst, Massachusetts.

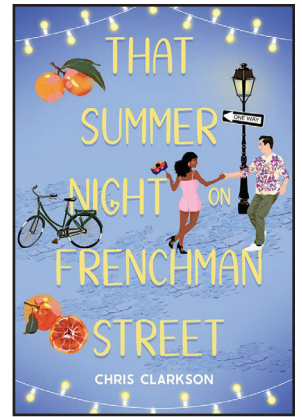

That Summer Night on Frenchmen Street

CHRIS CLARKSON

Family is everything to Jessamine Monet, even with their drama, like her twin brother Joel's secret boyfriend, and how her transgender cousin Solange is flourishing, despite the disapproval of Solange's dying mother. They keep her busy, which helps her forget past trauma. So when Tennessee Williams — a rich white boy named after the writer — asks her out, she hesitantly says yes. He'll be like a library book, something to read and return — she can't afford to fall for him.

Tennessee lives at the mercy of his mom's destructive creativity and his dad's hyper-masculine expectations. Jessamine's caring and aloof nature is a welcome distraction. While she fights her attraction to him, Tennessee is pulled into her inner circle and develops a friendship with Joel's boyfriend, Saint Baptiste. Together Saint and Tennessee bond over the difficulty of loving the emotionally unavailable Monet twins.

Chris Clarkson lives in New Orleans.

Nobody's Pilgrims

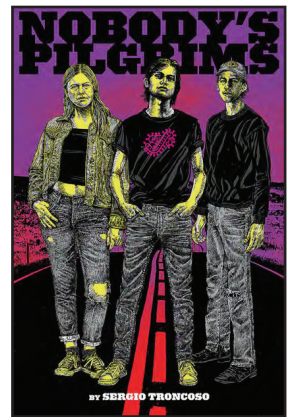

SERGIO TRONCOSO

Three teenagers are traveling northeast in a navy blue Ford pickup. Turi has fled his abusive family to see the beautiful New England landscape he's always dreamed about. Arnulfo is undocumented and wants to find someplace to work and live. Molly seeks a new life far away from her nowhere Missouri town. Turi and Arnulfo are best friends. Molly and Turi are falling in love.

But for all their innocence, violence follows the trio at every turn.

A literary novel with the propulsion of a thriller, a genre joyride written in the prose of a master, Nobody's Pilgrims both offers and questions the possibility of escape in America-like Huckleberry Finn with a gritty frontera twist.

Sergio Troncoso was born and raised in El Paso, Texas. He often writes about the United States-Mexico border, immigrants, families and fatherhood, and crossing cultural, religious, and psychological borders.

Blessing's Bead

DEBBY DAHL EDWARDSON & NASUGRAQ RAINEY HOPSON

Nutaaq and her sister, Aaluk, journey from their Iñupiaq village in Alaska to the annual trade fair further north. There, a handsome young Siberian Inuit wearing a string of cobalt blue beads watches Aaluk the way a wolf watches a caribou. Soon his actions — and other horrific events — threaten to shatter Nutaaq's world.

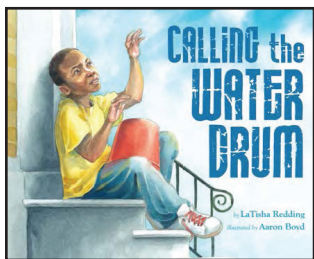

Seventy years later, Nutaaq's great-granddaughter, Blessing, is on her own journey, running from Anchorage to live in a remote Arctic village with a grandmother she barely remembers. Once there, Blessing feels like an outsider until she finds a cobalt blue bead in her grandmother's sewing tin. The events this discovery triggers reveal the power of family and heritage to heal.

Debbi Dahl Edwardson (Barrow, AK) is an acclaimed author who married into and has lived for more than thirty years among the Inupiat people of Alaska.

Calling the Water Drum

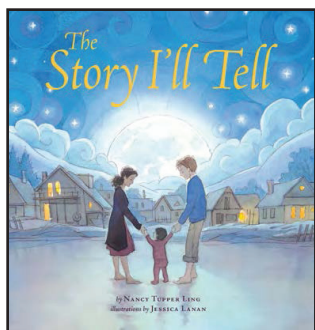

LA TISHA REDDING & AARON BOYD

Henri and his parents leave Haiti after their uncle invites them to come to New York City. Only able to afford a small, rickety boat, the family sets out in the middle of the night in search of a better life.

Their boat overturns, and Henri is placed on top as his parents drift out at sea. Overcome with grief, Henri retreats into himself and can't speak once he reaches land. Encouraged by his uncle and neighbor, Henri takes a bucket and plays it like a drum. The drumming becomes a link to his past and a conduit for his emotions. Slowly, Henri learns to navigate a world without his parents.

LaTisha Redding (Florida) was inspired to write this based on some of her Haitian friends' accounts of how they arrived in the US.

Aaron Boyd (Milwaukee, WI) has illustrated numerous picture.

The Story I'll Tell

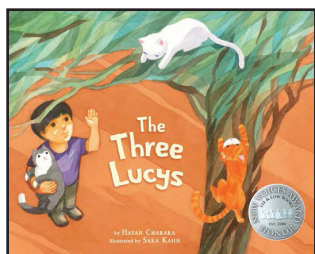

NANCY TUPPER-LING & JESSICA LANAN

A child asks his mother to tell the story of where he came from. "I might tell how you came from a land far away in a hot air balloon. The basket slowly drifted down like a feather into our yard. I dropped the firewood I was carrying and ran to you. 'You're home now,' I said." Or maybe it was a lark — and not a stork — that carried the child. Or perhaps he was rescued from a dragon!

Each lyrical, fantastic tale contains a kernel of truth that pieces together the baby's journey from China into his new mother's arms.

Nancy Tupper Ling (Walpole, MA) was inspired to write The Story I'll Tell from her multicultural background and the experiences of friends who have adopted children from all over the world.

Jessica Lanan (Boulder, CO) pursued illustration after bringing watercolors with her on global trip.

The Three Lucys

HAYAN CHARARA & SARA KAHN

Luli likes to sit in the shade of an olive tree with his beloved cats: Lucy the Fat, Lucy the Skinny, and Lucy Lucy. But the cats must stay behind when Luli and his parents go visit his aunt and uncle.

After a fun visit, Luli is looking forward to home and seeing the Lucys. But then Luli's hometown comes under attack and they must seek refuge at his aunt and uncle's house. Luli doesn't understand what's happening and worries about his pets. Who will keep the three Lucys safe? And when will they be able to return home?

The Three Lucys, based on his family's experiences in Lebanon, is Hayan Charara's picture book debut. Born in Detroit, Michigan, to immigrant parents, Charara currently lives in Houston, Texas.

Sara Kahn is known for her emotive, transparent watercolor paintings. She lives in San Francisco, California.

The Harvey Milk Story

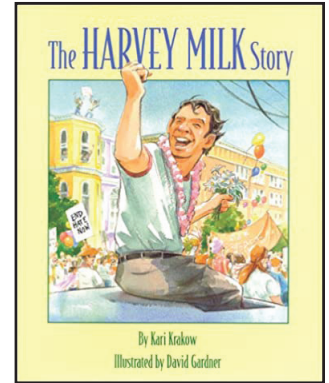

KARI KRAKOW & DAVID C. GARDNER

On a rainy day in January, on the steps of San Francisco's City Hall, Harvey Milk was sworn into office, the first openly gay elected official in the United States of America.

Harvey Milk was popular, intelligent, and energetic. But he was hiding a secret: He was gay. He eventually moved to San Francisco, where there was a strong LGBTQ community. He realized many people who were usually ignored by the government deserved better protection: the LGBT community, people of color, people with disabilities, and more. He decided to run for public office, and won election to the city's Board of Supervisors. Though his career as a public servant was sadly and suddenly cut short, his pride as an openly gay man and his passion for equality has inspired countless people to continue his work.

Kari Krakow (Ithaca, NY), a teacher for forty years, believes biographies help children learn that individuality can be a source of strength.

David Gardner is an award-winning illustrator and visual development artist.

The Wakame Gatherers

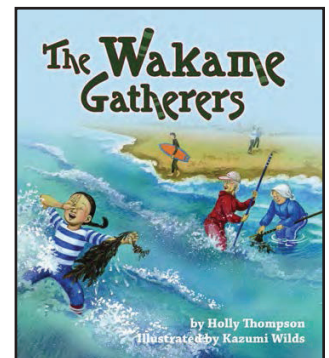

HOLLY THOMPSON & KAZUMI WILDS

Nanami has two grandmothers: Bāchan, who lives with Nanami's family in Japan, and Gram, who lives in Maine. When Gram visits Japan, Bāchan takes her and Nanami on a seaside trip to gather wakame, a long, curvy seaweed that grows near the shore. While assembling equipment and walking to the beach, Bāchan explains how wakame and other seaweeds are used in Japan. Gram shares stories about how seaweeds are used in Maine, and Nanami translates.

By day's end, Nanami's grandmothers discover they have much in common despite being from countries that fought in World War II, which they both remember.

Holly Thompson lives in Kamakura, Japan. She writes fiction and poetry and is Regional Advisor of the Japan chapter of the Society of Children's Book Writers and Illustrators.

Kazumi Wilds was born in Tokyo, Japan, and is a picture book illustrator and a creator of artist's books.

The Wishing Tree

ROSEANNE THONG & CONNIE MCLENNAN

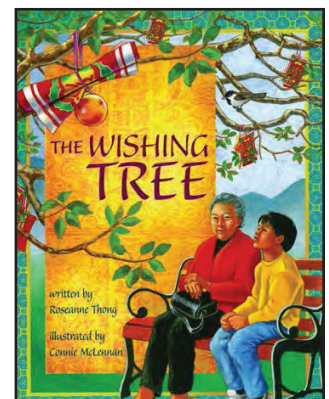

An enormous banyan tree with thick, leafy branches grew in the center of a village near an ancient temple in a green valley with a gurgling stream.

Every Lunar New Year, Ming and his grandmother visit the Wishing Tree. Its branches are covered with wishes, each written on red and yellow paper fluttering in the breeze.

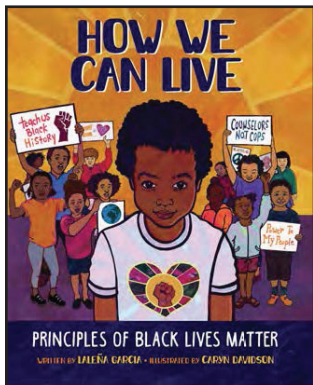

Grandmother warned Ming to wish carefully, and sure enough, his wishes always seemed to come true. But one year when Ming makes the most important wish of his life, the tree lets him down.

Roseanne Greenfield Thong is a teacher, editor, and educational consultant in Southern California. She lived in Asia for twenty years where she studied Mandarin, taught English, and visited the Wishing Tree regularly with her family.

Connie McLennan (California) has been a freelance artist for over 25 years.

How We Can Live

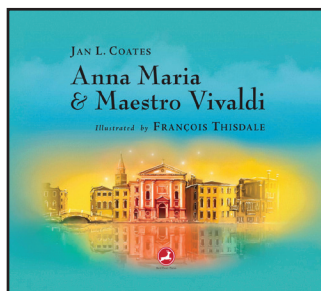

Principles of Black Lives Matter

LALEÑA GARCIA & CARYN DAVIDSON

When the Black Lives Matter movement began in 2013, the three founders — Alicia Garza, Patrisse Khan-Cullors, and Opal Tometi — anchored it on guiding principles developed through conversation with other activists. These principles commit the movement to empathy, loving engagement, and just action; affirm the importance of Black women, families, elders, and LGBTQ folk; and celebrate the strength and diversity of Black people in their communities and around the globe. This book helps young people explore these powerful principles.

Laleña Garcia (New York) has taught early childhood education programs for over twenty years, and works with Black Lives Matter in Schools, a teachers' organization.

Caryn Davidson (Brooklyn, NY) helped found arts programs at three public schools in NYC to promote culturally relevant pedagogy and socially just practices within those school communities.

Terms & Policies

Ordering & Shipping Information

To place an order, please contact your Thomas Allen & Son sales representative or our Customer Service Desk by toll-free phone (800-387-4333) or by email (orders@t-allen.com).

You can also order books directly from our website at www.thomasallen.ca.

- All Thomas Allen book imprints and assorted titles are combined for order minimums. Our order minimum is 10 assorted books. A minimum order of $200.00 net retail is required to receive free shipping.
- All prices quoted are suggested retail and subject to change without prior notice.
- Original invoice and packing slips are included with shipment unless otherwise instructed.
- Contact Customer Service or your sales representative to establish terms of sale. All prices, terms, and ship dates are subject to change without notice.

Return Policy

Applicable with returnable terms only. Books and calendars are fully returnable in resalable condition (no price stickers) beginning three (3) months after invoice date. Returnable Calendars are only permitted with a "Returnable Contract" signed and submitted with original Calendar Order. NO RETURN AUTHORIZATION IS REQUIRED.

Customer pays all freight and handling cost on return shipments. Please include your account number on chargeback and packing list to ensure that credit will be issued correctly to your account. Account numbers can be found on your statement, packing list, or any invoice. Please also include invoice number and/or date, along with ISBN, title, quantity, price, and discount.

Return Credit: Calendar Returns will be credited at original purchase price. Book returns will be credited at the retailer's highest earned discount. Returns from customers with both warehousing and non-warehousing accounts will be credited at a blended discount factoring in both types of sales to both accounts. Returns of more than one (1) carton should be labeled, for example, 1 of 3, 2 or 3, etc. Send books along with packing slips to: Thomas Allen & Son Limited, 195 Allstate Parkway, Markham, ON, L3R 4T8.

Returns sent to any other locations will be refused. All Workman Stationery and Ryland Peters & Small Stationery are sold non-returnable.

Claims

All claims for shortages and/or damaged items must be made within 30 days of receipt or they will not be honoured.

Nonreceipt

All claims for nonreceipt and/or requests for Proof of Delivery (POD) must be made within 30 days of receipt of statement or they will not be honoured.
